PROSPECTUS

OF

ST. XAVIER'S ACADEMY

Conducted by the Sisters of Mercy

This institution, first opened in 1845, is now permanently located at the corner of Wabash avenue and Twenty-ninth street, about three miles from the center of the city.

The building is of brick, with stone trimmings. It is spacious and well adapted to educational purposes. Hot and cold baths are connected with the various apartments, and the entire building is heated by steam.

Providence has marvelously blessed the institution in regard to health, and those parents and guardians who have patronized the Academy during the past years can give testimony of this.

The regular mode of life, together with the thorough ventilation which exists, have done much to improve the health of its pupils.

By its charter, obtained February 27, 1847, St. Xavier's Academy enjoys all the rights and privileges of the first institutions of the country.

The discipline is mild, yet conducted with such uniformity as to secure good order and regularity.

The scholastic year is divided into two sessions of five months each, the first session commencing on the first Tuesday in September, the second on the 1st of February. A vacation of about one week is allowed at Christmas, when pupils are allowed to visit their parents if they desire it. If residents of the city, they are permitted to do so once a month—generally the first Sunday of the month, unless deprived of this privilege for non-observance of rule.

Wednesday and Sunday are visiting days for parents, relatives or friends; visits on other days must prove detrimental to pupils, since study is necessarily interrupted thereby. The hours on Wednesdays for visitors are from 3:30 to 4:30 P. M., and also 7 to 8. On Sundays any hour except from 4:30 to 7 P. M.

The correspondence of young ladies is, at all times, subject to the supervision of the Directress, hence private correspondence is not allowed.

Pupils may enter at any time during the year, their session always commencing with date of entrance; but can in no case leave just before the close of the year, without serious damage to their standing, besides forfeiting prizes.

No deduction is made for the first or last two weeks of a term, nor for absence, except in cases of protracted sickness.

Parents and guardians may rest assured that every attention consistent with the spirit of mild, but firm, government is paid to the comfort of the young ladies placed at the Academy, while the greatest care is taken to nourish in their minds those principles of virtue and religion which alone can render education profitable. No undue influence is exercised over the religious opinions of non-Catholic pupils; however, for the sake of order, all are required to conform to the external discipline of the institution.

Bi-monthly examinations are held, and reports of deportment, scholarship, etc., are forwarded to parents and guardians.

At the annual distribution of premiums, those who have observed the rules and given evidence of polite and amiable deportment are crowned by the Most Reverend Archbishop.

Graduating medals are conferred on those only who take the full Academic Course.

Each pupil is required to write home every two weeks.

Weekly instructions are given in politeness and all that constitutes lady-like deportment.

There is one general examination each year, after which any pupil who may have been found duly qualified is promoted.

The institution is intended for boarders and day scholars. For the latter the Academy is opened at 8 o'clock.

Recitation commences at 9 o'clock precisely, and continues until 3:30 P. M., with an intermission of three-quarters of an hour at noon.

As the progress of the young ladies, as well as their promotion depends in a great measure on their regular attendance at school, they should never be encouraged in a desire to remain absent, except in case of illness. Parents should also see that they attend to evening study while at home, as it is useless to expect perfect recitation without private study.

No young lady is accessible to callers during study or recitation hours except in extraordinary cases.

COURSE OF STUDY

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT
